The Worry Jar

1

Sit the students in a circle, making sure the space is quiet and peaceful. Ask the children if they have any worries, fears or anxieties and tell how important it is to talk to a trusted friend or adult about their worries.

2

In a bowl have some sand or glitter and tell the children that it represents their worries, fears or anxieties. In turn let the children take a pinch and then sprinkle it into the bottle or jar of water.

What you need!
1. A large jar or bottle
2. Some sand or glitter
3. Water
4. A calm, quiet space

The Worry Bottle

3

Once all the children have had a turn pop on the lid of the jar/bottle and give it a shake. If they want the children can have a go at shaking the jar/bottle too. Explain this is how it can feel in our heads, when all our worries and thoughts are swirling and swimming around.

4

Put the jar/bottle down and ask them to do some deep breathing to try and clear their mind. Ask them to close their eyes and breath in slowly for 5 and then out for 5. Repeat this process 5 times. Ask them to open their eyes and look at the jar. The sand/glitter will now have settled, and this represents how our bodies and brains can feel after speaking about our fears and doing some breathing exercises.

5

As an extension activity the children can make their own worry jar/bottle by using bits of recycling like a plastic bottle and some sand/glitter. It is also lovely to shake and watch all the sand/glitter dancing around in the jar or bottle.

The Power of Affirmations

Saying positive affirmations to yourself everyday will boost your motivation and confidence and reduce anxieties. Practice these affirmations with your students every morning in class and watch them grow in confidence. Also ask them to create their own affirmations.

I am awesome

I am strong

I am a good person

I am worthy

I can do whatever I focus my mind on

I feel confident and secure

I am calm, relaxed and peaceful

I am unique and special

I am thankful for my blessings

I have loving, positive and happy thoughts

Growth Mindset

This growth mindset chart is great to remind students that they can think differently and think more positively. Get them to make their own 'Growth Mindset' chart with some goals that they want to aim to achieve.

Instead of...	Try Thinking...
I'm not good at this	I can learn how to do it
I give up!	I'll use a different strategy
It's good enough	Is this really my best work?
I can't make this any better	I can always improve
This is too hard	This may take some time
I made a mistake	Mistakes help me learn
I just can't do this	I am going to train my brain
I'll never be that smart	I will learn how to do this
Plan A didn't work	There is always plan B
My friend can do it	I will learn from them

Mindfulness through drama

Everyone has a superpower...however sometimes we doubt ourselves. Your superpower doesn't have to be 'Superhuman Strength' or 'Super Intelligence' It could be something as simple as 'Super Kindness' or the ability to be a 'Super Friend' Whatever it might be....we ALL have our very own SUPERPOWERS to be proud of!

As a group discuss 'What makes us super?' Get the children to discuss what special skills they have and things they are proud of. Also ask them to tell you what makes their classmates super? Discuss the power of self-worth and the power of compliments. If you think someone is awesome...then let them know!

In groups ask the children to produce their very own movie about their superpowers. Perhaps you could film it and show it in a school assembly, or they could even perform it live.

My Superpower The Movie

Work in groups to create your very own movie to show off your amazing superpowers!

This is your storyboard to start creating your mini movie. After it is complete why not film your movie or perform it live.

1. Where is your movie taking place?	2. Who Are the characters and what are their superpowers?
--------------------------------------	---

3. What problem do they face?	4. How do they solve this problem?	5. How does the story end?
-------------------------------	------------------------------------	----------------------------
